

NEW YORK HERALD

BROADWAY AND ANN STREET.

JAMES GORDON BENNETT, PROPRIETOR.

Volume XXXIV.....No. 269

AMUSEMENTS TO-MORROW EVENING.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, corner of Fifth Avenue and 26th street.—PATRIE.

WATERLY THEATRE, No. 120 Broadway.—A GRAND VARIETY ENTERTAINMENT. Matinee 2.

OLYMPIA THEATRE, Broadway.—THE DRAMA OF HEAVEN.

THE TAMMANY, Fourteenth street.—LION—THE QUEEN OF HEAVEN.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC, 14th street.—MOUQUETTAIRES DE LA REINE.

BOOTH'S THEATRE, 23rd st., between 5th and 6th ave.—BROOD AIDEN.

FIFTH AVENUE THEATRE, Fifth Avenue and Twenty-fourth street.—OLD HEADS AND YOUNG HEADS.

FRENCH THEATRE, 14th st. and 4th av.—FRA DIAMOR.

MILRO'S GARDEN, Broadway.—FOMOSA: OR, THE RAILROAD TO RUIN.

WOOD'S MUSEUM OF CURIOUSITIES, Broadway, corner Third and 1st.—MADRID DAILY. Performance every evening.

WALLACK'S THEATRE, Broadway and 11th street.—FRODOG.

STEINWAY HALL, Fourteenth street.—GRAND PATTI CONCERT.

BOWERY THEATRE, Bowery.—SATAN—LEAH, THE JEW'S DAUGHTER.

MRS. F. H. CONWAY'S PARK THEATRE, Brooklyn.—THE WOMAN IN RED.

CENTRAL PARK GARDEN, 7th av., between 36th and 38th st.—POPULAR GARDEN CONCERT.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE GRAND EXHIBITION, Empire State Building, 3d av. and 6th st. Open day and evening.

ROSEVILLE ART GALLERY, Fifth Avenue and 14th street.—EXHIBITION OF THE FINE MUSEUM.

TOMMY PASTOR'S OPERA HOUSE, 21 Bowery.—COMEDY VOCALISTS, NEGRO MINSTRELS, &amp;c.

BRYANT'S OPERA HOUSE, Tammany Building, 14th st.—BRYANT'S MINSTRELS—NEGRO ENTERTAINERS, &amp;c.

THEATRE COMIQUE, 514 Broadway.—COMIC VOCALISTS, NEGRO ACTS, &amp;c.

SAN FRANCISCO MINSTRELS, 555 Broadway.—ENTHUSIASTIC MINSTRELS, NEGRO ACTS, &amp;c.

HOOVER'S OPERA HOUSE, Brooklyn.—WIF WAN WINKLE, &amp;c.

NEW YORK MUSEUM OF ANATOMY, 43 Broadway.—SCIENCE AND ART.

LADIES' NEW YORK MUSEUM OF ANATOMY, 280 Broadway.—FEMALES ONLY IN ATTENDANCE.

Deacons, of the French Legation, and Colonel G. O.

Prin, of New York, are at the Albermarle Hotel.

Major Franklyn, of the British Army; Dr. J. E.

Harris, of Nashville; J. N. Knapp, of Auburn; J. B.

Judd, of Chicago; J. F. Joy, of Detroit, and Oscar

Townsend, of Cleveland, are at the St. Nicolas

Hotel.

Bishop Young, of Florida, and J. Gillum, of Portland, are at the Coleman House.

Colonel French and Colonel Hildt, of West Point;

Mellon Street, of Indiana, and Leon Chabert, of Paris, are at the Hoffman House.

Major Turner, of Missouri; C. J. Clark and Fred.

Graves, of England; W. A. Walker, of Quebec; E. O.

Williams, of Charleston, S. C., and G. W. Anderson and E. Anderson, of Savannah, are at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

Major J. P. Reynolds, of New Orleans; J. H.

Moron, of New York City, Cal., and Colonel J. Wilson, Jr.,

of Buffalo, are at the St. Charles Hotel.

J. L. Stone and C. C. Evans, of Boston, and J. O.

Gairbairn, of Baltimore, are at the Westminster

Hotel.

George Peabody Russell, of Salem, Mass.; N. M.

McLane, of Baltimore, and Geo. N. Osborne, of New Brunswick, N. J., are at the New York Hotel.

not serious. An Ecumenical Council is a mockery if it does not represent the churches of the whole world. A General Council of the Catholic Church is nothing if it does not represent the entire Catholic Church and reflect the sentiment of the same. An Ecumenical

Council has been long known to be an impossibility. A General Council of the Catholic Church, believed to be possible, was looked forward to by one class with fear, by another class with hope; but a General

Council of the Catholic Church is now,

to all appearance, as much an impossibility as an Ecumenical Council. The Catholic Church seems to be as little a unit as is the Christian world. The course taken by a large portion of the Catholics of Germany, by many in the United States, and particularly by Father Hyacinthe, of Notre Dame, makes it abundantly plain to all the world that the Ecumenical Council may prove more a curse

than a blessing to the Catholic Church.

Altogether the situation of Europe is peculiar, and for months to come it will largely claim our attention. We may not have much war, but we shall not lack excitement. We promise to watch and note progress.

Smoking in Wall Street.

The reports of the great Wall street turmoil of Friday seem to doubt whether those who lost in the attempt to force gold to an extraordinarily artificial figure will pay their losses, and, indeed, discuss the point quite as if it were a matter of taste rather than of honesty. If this view of the case is correct, Wall street

must be given quite a new position in the scale of roguery. Hitherto gambling and pocket-picking have been the favorite comparisons for these transactions, but both the gambler and the pickpocket have some sort of risk in every case. But if Wall street may corner gold to plunder a whole community while its game

lasts and if its game wins, and yet to lose nothing if its game fails, where is the risk in that? Here the roguery is down to the standard of the Chatham street dealer

in plated ware, who never intends to lose.

Unless the legitimate result of all these bar-